VI. Reasonable Accommodations

Sometimes people with a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities may need a reasonable accommodation in order to take full advantage of our housing programs and related services. Generally, the individual knows best what they need; however, the Cumberland Housing Group retains the right to be shown how the requested accommodation enables the individual to access or use the programs or services. If more than one accommodation is equally effective to provide access to our programs and services, we retain the right to select the most efficient or economic choice. The cost necessary to carry out approved requests will be paid by the Cumberland Housing Group if there is no one else willing to pay for the modifications. If another party pays for the modification, we will seek to have the same entity pay for any restoration costs. If the Cumberland Housing Group determines that the requested accommodation presents an unreasonable financial and/or administrative burden, it will have the option of denying the request. If you feel that you need a reasonable accommodation to fully take advantage of our housing programs, please check which of the following Reasonable Accommodations is needed:

- In-home visits by staff
